IT SOUNDS DIFFERENTLY AT DIFFERENT TIMES

When the jolly good sport is in the thick of it, spending his money right and left, and having what he thinks is the time of his life—thrift advice is pretty sure to sound feeble to him.

But when the din has died down, and the dollars that are left look lonely, and he begins to look a little down on his luck himself—that wisdom-of-saving talk sounds very sensible and sane.

It IS sensible and sane—it pays! Our patrons will back us up in this statement.

IS IT EASY TO SAVE MONEY?

A Thousand times NO! There would be no good in accumulating savings if the task took no effort.

Who really wants an easy job anyway? Such a thing could not satisfy, inspire or move up to the utmost exercise of our ambition and ability. folks who save money find it hard, undoubtedly—and therefore the more appealing to the red-blooded spirit of achievement.
